Welcome

Good evening, and welcome to the Musical Medics Spring Concert. Thanks so much for coming along and supporting us, and our charity for this semester, Samaritans of Edinburgh and the Lothians. We are delighted to be raising money for such a worthwhile cause and have the pleasure of welcoming Rosamund Davidson to tell us more about the fantastic work they do. There will be cakes on sale at the interval with donations going to the charity.

Our programme for you this evening is as varied as ever, with music from our orchestra and choir, as well as performances from our many small groups which have flourished over the past two years. I do hope you enjoy it.

For members joining us this term I hope this will be the first of many concerts they will perform with us. However, we are also saying goodbye to several committed and hard working individuals who have given a huge amount to the society over many years. In particular I would like to mention Scott Hogg our orchestra conductor, and Anne Money and Mark Hannen who have served on the committee for the last three years. We wish them good luck and hope to see them in the audience next year.
